

STEPHEN DOWNEY

Stephen has over 15 years of teaching experience and specialises in Bodhran, Tin Whistle and Flute.

As a professional musician, he has toured America, Europe and Australia, performing with critically acclaimed bands and shows such as Buana and Rhythm of the Dance.

Combining his love for Irish music and computer games, in 2016 he directed, and composed for, the award-winning musical video game, Wailing Heights.

Through the Andersonstown Traditional and Contemporary Music School and London College of Music he was awarded a Distinction at Grade 8 in traditional Irish music and is trained in child protection.

His musical influences range from classic musicians such as Matt Molloy to contemporary artists including Brian Finnegan, Michael McGoldrick and John Joe Kelly.

Favourite Album: Flook Flatfish